No weighty bars secure his door, No ditch is dug around; His walls no cannon bristle o'er. No dead lie on his ground. A peaceful laborer is he, Unknown in earth's turmoil-From many crushing sorrows free, Is the tiller of the soil!

His stacks are seen on every side. His barns are filled with grain; Though others hail not fortune's tide, He labors not in vain. The land gives up its rich increase, The sweet reward of toil, And blest with happiness and peace, Is the tiller of the soil!

He trudges out at break of day, And takes his way along; And as he turns the vielding clay, He sings a joyful song. He is no dull, unhappy wight Bound in misfortune's coil; The smile is bright, the heart is light, Of the tiller of the soil!

And when the orb of day has crown'd With go'd the western sky, Before his dwelling he is found, With cheerful faces by-With little laughing duplicates, Caresses will not spoil; Oh joy at every side awaits The tiller of the soil!

A hardy, sunbornt man is he, A hardy, sunburnt man, But who can boast a hand so free, As he, the tiller, can? Nor summer's heat, nor winter's cold The pow'r has him to foil-Oh, far above the knights of old Is the tiller of the soil!

A Casus Anatomicus. A wealthy miser died; his body was dissected; No symtom of disease was any where detected, Until they reached the heart-which to find they were unable--But in that place they found-a Compound Interest Table. A LITTLE GIRL'S DEATH. No bitter tears for thee be shed, Blosoms of being! seen and gone; With flowers alone we strew thy bed, Oh blest, departed one! Whose all of all—a rosy ray—

Blushed into dawn, and passed away. Marriage either gets rid of your devils by the presence of an angel-or else it supplies their place with one whose name is Legion. Gent. (rising in a rage)-Get out of my sight, you infernal puppy! what do you mean by coming here and asking for work? I'd business-you ain't even a d-d rascal! Boston Times.
